Bennett's Announcement of His Marriage.

TO THE READERS OF THE HERALD—DECLARATION OF LOVE—CAUGHT AT LAST—GOING TO BE MARRIED—NEW MOVEMENT IN CIVILIZATION

[From the N Y Herald June 1 1840]

I am going to be married in a few days The weather is so beautiful times are getting so good, the prospects of political and moral reform so auspicious, that I cannot resist the divine instinct of honest nature any longer so I am going to be married to one of the most splendid women in intellect in heart, in soul in property, in person in manner that I have yet seen during my interesting pilgrimage through human life I cannot stop in my career I must fulfill that awful destiny which the Almighty Father has written against my name in the broad letters of life against the wall of heaven I must give the world a pattern of happy wedded life with all the charities that spring from a nuptial love

In a few days I shall be married according to the most holy rites of the most holy Christian church to one of the most remarkable accomplished and beautiful young women of the age She possesses a fortune I sought and found a fortune—a large fortune She has no Stonington shares or Manhattan stock but in purity and uprightness she is worth a half a million of pure coin Can any swindling bank show as much? In good sense and elegance another half million in soul mind and beauty millions on millions equal to the whole specie of all the rotten banks in the world

Happily the patronage of the public to the Herald is nearly $25 000 per annum, almost equal to a President's salary But property in the world's goods was never my object Fame public good usefulness in my day and generation the religious association of female excellence the progress of true industry—these have been my dreams by night and my desire by day In the new and holy condition into which I am about to enter and to enter with the same reverential feelings as I would heaven itself, I anticipate some signal change in my feelings in my views, in my purposes, in my pursuits What they may be I know not—time alone can tell

My ardent desire has been through life to reach the highest order of human excellence by the shortest possible cut Associated night and day, in sickness and in health, in war and in peace with a woman of this highest order of excellence must produce some curious result in my heart and feelings and those results the future will develop in due time in the columns of the Herald Meanwhile I return my heart felt thanks for the enthusiastic patronage of the public, both of Europe and America The holy estate of wedlock will only increase my desire to be still more useful God Almighty bless you all

JAMES GORDON BENNETT

In the postscript to this announcement Bennett gives notice that he shall have no time to waste upon editors who attacked him until after marriage and honeymoon On the 6th of June 1840 the marriage was announced at the head of the editorial columns of the Herald

MARRIED

On Saturday afternoon the 6th inst by the Rev Dr Howers at St Peter's Catholic Church in Barclay street James Gordon Bennett proprietor and editor of the New York Herald to Henrietta Agnes Crean What will be the effect of this event on the great newspaper contest now waging in New York time alone can show

Long Wool

From an article in the San Francisco Bulletin we take this

We notice in this connection that more attention than ever is now given on this coast to long wool sheep The staple of ordinary California wool is too short French and Spanish merinos are still as great favorites as ever but Cotswold are finding favor especially for grading up and the wool from such crosses is very satisfactory Some maintain with great tenacity that the heavy long wool breeds are not the most profitable kind—that they are not adapted to mountain ranges and that in the long dry seasons they will suffer more than other sheep for lack of pasture Without contesting all these propositions it is clear enough that grades which produce longer wool are desirable for this State and that the crosses of Cotswold with Merino and common sheep have generally been successful The long wool is also generally a much better mutton sheep than any of the more common sort A thousand long wool sheep near to market may make better returns than four thousand common sheep in some remote place The South Down Leicester and Lincoln have already found their way to this State and so far as we have heard most of the experiments have been satisfactory

There were consumed in the United States last year 68,000 000 pounds of wool in excess of home production There is no prospect that the production will exceed consumption for many years to come, if ever It is as easy to send wool to foreign countries as it is to export wheat and the foreign market will generally be more certain for the former than for the latter

The people of Nova Scotia are beginning to be righteously indignant at the delay in the construction of the Intercolonial Railway which is to furnish the desired communication between Halifax and Shediac and St John and other points north and west A statement has recently been published that the road will be completed in September next But the Halifax Chronicle affirms that this is given out entirely for electioneering purposes and that the road if completed at all will not be in running order before September 1873 The building of the road it will be remembered was undertaken by the Dominion government when Nova Scotia joined the confederation and was the principal inducement to such political action by the people of Nova Scotia The Halifax Chronicle asserts that this great public work has been manipulated for political purposes by a corrupt ring at Ottawa that it is a job that the work has been done in a slovenly and dishonest manner and that the road as built is not capable of sustaining one year's heavy traffic If these charges are true the Halifax people have good cause to complain of the treatment which they have received from the Dominion government

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Particulars of the Wreck of the California

VICTORIA, June 20.—By the arrival of the steamer Sir James Douglas from Nanaimo this afternoon, we learn the following particulars of the stranding of the steamer California. The Douglas left Nanaimo for the wreck at 5 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, arriving at Sea Egg Island where the California struck, at 7 The passengers and a portion of the troops were immediately embarked and the Douglas returned to Nanaimo, Some of the passengers remained by the wreck to look after their property, and a party of soldiers also remained to help lighten the vessel and assist in getting her off. Capt. Ainsley and the crew also stayed by the ship. The whole blame of the catastrophe seems to be on the chief officer of the California. He was on watch at the time, Capt Ainsley having gone below about half an hour previously. We are informed that the ship was laying her course when the Captain left the deck, but when she struck on the rocks half an hour afterward she was at least two miles out of her course. The night was beautiful and clear at the time of the accident On touching the rock she bumped twice heavily and then settled down, knocking a large hole in her fore foot and straining the larboard streak The water commenced coming in in great quantities, extinguishing the engine fires immediately She now lies with her head on the rock and her stern afloat under water Strong hopes are entertained that after she is lightened of her coal and cargo, that she will be got off. A quantity of lumber has been sent from Nanaimo to patch her up so as to bring her down there, and the schooner Industry with some shipwrights on board, started from Nanaimo for her yesterday morning

The Idaho was hauled off by the Prince Alfred at midnight, having sustained but little damage, and has proceeded on her way to assist the California.

The New York Evening Post, until lately a Liberal Republican organ, says the assumed popularity of Greeley is a sheer absurdity, and rests upon no better foundation than the supposition that, because he is laughed at good naturedly, his monstrous assumptions of simplicity of character, singleness of heart and integrity of purpose are, therefore, credited

FRIDAY MORNING JUNE 21 1872

A Prolonged Labor

Those unhappy people who started out some months ago under a banner inscribed, "Anything to beat Grant" are still in the wilderness and without a guide. They are murmuring in large numbers against the leader they found at Cincinnati and are resolved to follow him no further. A call is issued by the men who originated the Cincinnati movement but who are disappointed in its result, for a meeting to be held at New York on the 30th June. The circular calling this meeting is signed by Carl Schurz, Wm Cullen Bryant, Jacob D Cox, Oswald Ottendorfer, David A Wells, Edward Atkinson, Gen Brinkerhoff and others. The object is to try to get Greeley off the track with a view of uniting all the elements of opposition to Grant on some other candidate than the "Sage of Chappaqua."

Meanwhile however, the Democrats are evincing a purpose to make Greeley their candidate. Thirty days ago this looked incredible but it now seems well nigh certain. State after State has been instructed to vote for him at Baltimore, until he now counts an actual majority in the Convention to be held there in July. Thus it appears that the Democrats are coming to Greeley's support, while the men who headed the movement which nominated him at Cincinnati, are repudiating him and hunting for another candidate.

One of the "plans" formed by those who are beating about to find some way to defeat Grant, is to nominate another candidate than Greeley—say Adams—at Baltimore, and then to form a "joint electoral ticket" in each State, and put upon it names one-half of which shall be pledged to vote for Adams and the other half for Greeley, under circumstances included in the following stipulations: 1 That each voter shall put at the top of his ticket the elector who represents his preference, as between Greeley and Adams. Thus, If Elector Smith is to vote for Greeley and Elector Jones for Adams, and in counting votes more Smith's than Jones stand at the top of the ticket, both Smith and Jones are to vote for Greeley, and vice versa.

Those votes which express no such preference are to be equally divided. When the College finally assembles, the vote is to be decided on the same principle. Thus: If there should be 115 of the "Smith" men and 100 of the "Jones" men the whole number, 215 votes, are to be cast for Chappaqua. If the "Jones" men lead, the entire vote is to go for Adams. This is one "plan." But it does not suit those who will oppose Greeley under all circumstances, though they might accept it under a belief that Greeley would surely fall behind in the race.

This, however would be a clumsy expedient, wanting in practicalness and adaptability. The people prefer simple and direct methods. They want to know exactly what they are about, and have little patience with the complications and refinements of juggling schemes. But at the meeting in New York on the 30th some new plan is to be made to shape a policy for the Baltimore Convention, which will assemble nine days after. These movements show that the opposition to Grant is loose, irregular and disorderly. It is not actuated by a purpose high enough to bind its members together, hence these calls and counter calls, [illegible] new departures and their quick abandonment, [illegible] movements and secession from the [illegible], and fresh plans for new [illegible], followed rapidly by signs betokening further disintegration. The opposition to Grant will not unite. There is more probability that it will split into its simple units. This, certainly, is the tendency now.

The German Democrats

It is certain that the German Democrats will not support Greeley. The St Louis Democrat states that out of at least a hundred Democratic German papers, coming to that office, not more than five can abide the "former candidate." The tone of the Anzeiger des Westens in St Louis is that of the Democratic German press generally, with rare exceptions. Mr. Voorhees statement that the German press oppose Greeley ten to one, is more than [illegible] by the facts. The Dubuque Demokrat declares that the German Democrats will not support Mr. Greeley even if he is nominated at Baltimore. The Peoria Demokrat, which has been cited for Greeley, is vigorously denouncing him. So is the Seebote of Milwaukee, the Volksfreund of Cincinnati, and so are many other German Democratic journals of leading prominence. The Volksfreund alone has a circulation of about 25,000. Of the German papers of Iowa only two are for Greeley. The Dubuque National Demokrat has been classed in the East as a Greeley paper, but its attitude is uncompromisingly hostile to Greeley. It declares that his indorsement at Baltimore would be the disbanding of the Democratic party, leaving each Democrat free to vote for either candidate or none. The Republican Germans who were looking to Cincinnati continue as thoroughly disgusted as ever, and Senator Schurz has identified himself with the movement to nominate another candidate.

Here is the way Mr Greeley once described those whom he now expects to support him: "Point where you please to an election district which you will pronounce morally rotten, given up in great part to debauchery and vice—and that district will be found at nearly or quite every election giving a large majority for that which styles itself the Democratic party. * * * Take all the haunts of debauchery in the land, and you will find nine tenths of their master-spirits active participants of that same Democracy." Whether this arraignment is just, or not, is a point which Mr Greeley and the Democracy can settle between them.

From Mr E. M. Waite of Salem we have received the list of premiums offered by the State Agricultural Society for the coming Fair. The Fair itself will begin on Monday, Sept 30th, and continue six days. This time has been fixed on to accommodate the Fairs in Washington and Linn counties. The badge rule of last year, slightly amended, is to be enforced. Every male person above the age of twelve years is to be required to wear his badge in sight when within the grounds. Receipts of the Society last year were $14,718. Its expenditures, $14,674. The premium list for the coming Fair is the most liberal yet offered.

Some of Oregon's delegates to the Baltimore Convention have taken their departure for the purpose of attending the sitting of that body. Democratic authority here tells us they will not vote for Greeley. But when they get there what will the voice of one little State crying in the wilderness, amount to. Delegates enough are instructed for Greeley to insure his nomination at Baltimore.

A Sharp Arraignment

The Democratic Era (East Portland) takes the Herald severely to task for the inconsistency duplicity and folly of its course in regard to the railroad interests of Oregon. In two articles the Era reviews the Herald's course, and strongly rebukes it. Some passages from these articles we shall here reproduce, since they show the Herald up in its true light. From the first of them we quote as follows:

> The course pursued by the Herald can only place the party in a light of opposing the interests of the people of the entire State and for no good and substantial reasons. In one breath it declares Ben Holladay to be a wealthy monopolist, ready and able to build railroads and control the State with money if necessary, and before that is cool or forgotten it recklessly asserts that he is bankrupt and his railroads worthless. This contradiction of itself by itself cannot affect Holladay, but it can and will convey the impression that if the Democratic party is opposing him it is doing so merely from spite and not from any just cause or provocation. The Democratic party is above such petty warfare and its members of that class who never stoop so low. If the idea was to become fixed in their minds at any time that of such was the party to which they belonged they would spurn it with disgust and turn away from it with loathing.

The Herald may assure itself that its Democratic contemporary speaks here the language of truth and soberness. The best members of its party deprecate and condemn its spiteful and wrong headed course. The Era adds:

> Cannot the Herald in its mad ravings, see that it is likely to create the impression among the members of its own party that the intention of the party has finally resolved itself down to opposition to the welfare and prosperity of the State? Does it not know that the moment that this was fully established that the Democratic party would not amount to a corporal's guard at best? Can it not see that while it is claiming to be the leading party organ of the party, it is really the party's leading enemy?

There is no mistaking the motives of the Herald in this matter. On this point the Era in its second article thus speaks:

> It (the Herald) has contained articles intending to prove that the railroad enterprises now in course of construction are worthless, that the country through which they pass is not capable of supporting them, that the party who owns and controls them is bankrupt and unable to complete them, and all for no other reason than as itself has asserted, because Holladay has withdrawn his support from it, a right that any man should enjoy.

The Era goes on to say that capital never yet sought a country which was pronounced worthless by its own residents, and adds:

> The Herald virtually declares Oregon not to be a suitable place for the investment of capital when it attempts to show that the railroads owned and controlled by Ben Holladay are not self supporting, and the end it will attain will be the ruin of the credit of the State abroad, and when we consider the matter from a stand point nearer home, we find that there is everything to lose by the continuance of this shameful warfare against what are undoubtedly the best interests of the people. Should the Herald succeed in destroying Mr Holladay's credit (which we think is beyond its power to accomplish), and the work on the roads ceases owing to the want of funds to complete them would the people of Portland or of the Wallamet Valley be benefited thereby? Upon the completion of Ben Holladay's railroads depends the early and thorough development of the Wallamet Valley, the future growth and prosperity of Portland, and the success of other important railroad projects now being considered and struggling for existence in different parts of the State. Real estate would decrease ninety per centum in value to-morrow if it were known that the railroads in question would not be completed as intended, and a financial crisis, something yet unknown to the history of the city, follow as a natural sequence. The farmers of the Wallamet valley must suffer loss if their farms depreciate in worth and if the cost of shipping their grain to market is enhanced. These results must inevitably follow if the railroads are not completed. The other railroads we have made mention of, located as they are intended to be, through a sparsely settled country, cannot, under such circumstances but cut a very sorry figure when asking aid of capital, and when trying to borrow money, as all new railroads have to. Capitalists would at once reason, and very naturally and sensibly, too, that if a railroad being constructed through the most wealthy and most promising part of the State was not profitable, neither would one built through another portion of the same State containing much less than half the number of inhabitants and not near the same natural inducements, be the proper thing to invest in. Thus it will be seen that if the Herald should accomplish what it purposes the people at large will be the main sufferers.
>
> Certainly, the Herald must think its wishes are to be obeyed at all hazards and it places itself in a strange position when to blackmail an individual, it endangers the general welfare of the State. It is a position that its party or the people will not indorse or sanction. The Democracy opposed Mr Holladay in the late election because he was a Radical, and furthered the interests of the Radical party but they have never entertained the idea of destroying his financial credit, or of hindering him from carrying on successfully to completion the railroads he is building. And we want it distinctly understood that, when it attempts to convey the idea that it is supported by the party in its present attack upon the people's interests it is trying to do something very wrong and in conflict with the truth.

Important Expedition

A recent dispatch from Washington to the New York Herald gives this:

Congress having made an appropriation of $50 000 for the survey of the North Pacific ocean the Navy Department has commenced making arrangements for the surveying expedition which is to be under the supervision of Commander Skerrett an able and experienced officer. A great deal of work is to be done, and to thoroughly survey the routes and make the proper connection with parts already surveyed it would take two ships five years or more. Determinations of longitude are among the important duties to be performed by the expedition.

John Forsyth writes from New York to his paper, the Mobile Register: I met Democrats here every day who are utterly indignant at the thought of going for Greeley, and I am satisfied that if the Democracy is to be disbanded with orders of sauve qui peut Grant will get his share of Democratic votes and not a few of them from sheer indignation at the inconstancy which has broken up their own party.

The Boston Advertiser sets down Massachusetts as certain for Grant. It says Massachusetts sustains the administration from an intelligent confidence in its integrity and no other administration was ever sustained by a constituency more disinterested and independent.

The box being unsteady it tipped over and threw her and as she fell her neck caught on the hook in the region of the jugular vein and inflicted a severe but it is hoped not a mortal wound. It is said the hook penetrated her neck, glancing upward parallel with the vein, tearing and breaking through the flesh as she fell to the floor and making a terrible and ghastly wound.

The Puget Sound Courier says it is rumored that the Secretary of the Interior has written to the directors of the N P R R Co informing them that as soon as they complete the railroad to the waters of the Sound at any point, that will be regarded as their choice of place for a terminus, and they will be precluded thereby from holding government lands any farther beyond such point. In consequence of this, it is said that the company intend to carry their line all the way to Bellingham Bay before they attempt directly to approach the waters of the Sound anywhere. After that is done, they will begin first to attend to the building of the branch roads at different points, connecting their main line with the little towns and harbors where such branch lines may be needed and where they will prove profitable.

Some idea of the extent of the lumber business on Puget Sound, may be found from the following which is taken from the last number of the Seattle Intelligencer. That paper says: "There are now loading at the Port Gamble mills the following vessels: the bark O [illegible] D [illegible] destined for Hongkong with 600 000 feet of lumber; the bark [illegible] with [illegible] feet of lumber for San Francisco; the bark [illegible] with 600 000 feet of lumber for San Francisco; the bark Henry A. [illegible] with 500 000 feet of lumber for Callao; the barkentine [illegible] with 550 000 feet of lumber for San Francisco; the ship Charter Oak with 700 000 feet of lumber for Callao, and the ship [illegible] with 1 [illegible] 000 feet of lumber for the same port. Besides the above the ships [illegible] Pendleton, [illegible] Cobb, and [illegible] from Callao and the ship A[illegible] from San Francisco are now coming and will load at Port Gamble with from 1 000 000 to 1 000 000 feet of lumber, each, and have dispatch for Callao."

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY

COMMENCEMENT DAY

The annual Commencement Exercises at Pacific University, Forest Grove a few days since, were highly interesting. This Institution is one that embodies clear and distinctive ideas of educational work. It numbers among its graduates many young men who are entering on careers which promise high usefulness and success. At the late Commencement, after the general examination of [illegible] and other exercises had taken place the graduating address was delivered by Mr Henry B Luce. The oration was characterized by vigor, manliness and power of thought which spoke well for the quality of training given by the Institution. The graduating degree was then conferred by President Marsh. Following this was a meeting of the Association of Alumni with an address and the election of additional members and officers of the society.

The men who stand at the head of this Institution have thorough ideas of college work and the result of their efforts are seen in the general scope and course of study in the happy combination of the instruction of text books with a practical view of life and affairs whereby the student is fitted to fill his place and bear his part in the profession or pursuit he may select.

The founders of this Institution have labored under many difficulties and embarrassments in their endeavor to bring it up to their ideal standard, but they are succeeding even beyond expectation. A prosperous future opens before them and they have reason to hope for a fuller realization of the results of their work. The situation of the Institution is an excellent one. It is in a place sufficiently retired yet perfectly easy of access. The railroad brings it within little more than an hour's ride of Portland and Forest Grove and vicinity will ere long furnish quiet residences for many people who do business in the city.

It is now estimated by those competent to judge, that one half of the grain sown in Boise and Payette valleys has been destroyed by high water and that fully two thousand acres of land has been washed entirely away.

The bark Atlantic, 1 0[illegible] tons has been chartered to carry lumber from Puget Sound to Callao, ship Grace Darling 1 042 tons will take a cargo of railroad ties from Puget Sound to Lyttleton New Zealand.

Remarkable Cure of Mr Abram Tully

[illegible] Dr A M Loryea & Co: [illegible] I was taken down with Inflammatory Rheumatism and was for some time treated by [illegible] but got no better. I tried nearly every [illegible] I heard of [illegible] nothing seemed to do me any good [illegible] weeks. I was advised by Judge J [illegible] to try the UNK WEED REMEDY. I procured [illegible] bottle and was entirely cured. For six weeks before taking the UNK I was compelled to go upon crutches. I consider your remedy a great blessing to [illegible] and shall deem it my duty to [illegible] its great virtues.

CITY.

THE CONGREGATIONAL ASSOCIATION.—At the afternoon session yesterday of the Congregational Association now holding its annual meeting at the Congregational church in this city, a motion was made to dispense with the standing Committee on Temperance. An interesting discussion followed in which the merits of the question of the Temperance work and the relation which the Church bears to this work, were quite fully discussed. The question of what share of the work should be left to Temperance organizations and kindred orders was brought up. The motion was negatived by a unanimous vote—it being the sense of the Association that the Church should not give up this work to other bodies but should work with them for the suppression of the sale and use of intoxicating liquors. Interesting remarks were made on the subject by Rev E Gerry of Oregon City Rev Thomas Condon of The Dalles, President Marsh, of Forest Grove and Father Phelps, of this city. The Association meets to-day at 9 A M and 2 P M. The [illegible] of discussion is "Home Missions." About twenty delegates are in attendance from various parts of the State. Rev P S Knight of Salem, will deliver the Association sermon this evening. Service begins at 8 o clock. The public are cordially invited to be present at the meetings of the Association, both day and evening.

HORTICULTURAL FAIR.—The Horticultural Fair opened in this city yesterday with very flattering prospects. A large number of specimens of fine fruits and flowers were on exhibition, and many persons visited the skating rink, where the Fair is being held, during the day. It is probable that quite an addition to the number of articles on exhibition will be made to-day, and that increased interest will be manifested in the various departments. Believing the objects of the Society to be in every way commendable, we will endeavor to lay before our readers a more perfect description of the exhibition and the proceedings of the Society before the Fair closes. In the meantime we would advise those who take pleasure in seeing the finest specimens of flowers and the most rare and beautiful varieties of fruits, to visit the skating rink to-day, when the exhibition will be fairly opened. There will in all probability be a large attendance, for the Society is well worthy of the public patronage, and all who attend will be pleased with the exhibition if they have an eye for the beautiful and useful in nature.

STEAMERS IDAHO AND CALIFORNIA.—The following dispatches were received from Victoria last evening at the Steamship Company's office, in regard to the reported loss of the steamers Idaho and California:

VICTORIA June 20

Idaho off, no damage done left at 3 this morning to assist the California. Steamer Isabel with pontoons, gone also. J H GOODHUE.

VICTORIA June 20

Steamship Idaho is off all right, and will proceed immediately to the relief of the California. J D HOWELL.

Further particulars concerning the disasters will be found under our regular dispatches.

NEW MINISTER.—The First Baptist Church of this city, now for over a year without a pastor has called to their leadership Rev A R Medbury, late pastor of the First Baptist Church in San Francisco, California who arrived by the last steamer accompanied by his family. This gentleman is held in high esteem by those who have been associated with him in the church and bears the reputation of being an earnest and able minister. By the Evangel we observe that on leaving his charge in San Francisco Mr Medbury and his wife were made the recipients of many tokens of the affection borne them by those with whom they have been associated. The numerous congregation of whom he is pastor and members of sister churches unite in extending to him a cordial welcome to Portland and earnestly bespeak for him as many friends here as he has left behind him.

STRANGE IF TRUE.—The Advocate says that a letter from Benton county brings us intelligence that on Friday last an old man and two young men, strangers, came to the farm of Mr Calloway, ten miles below Corvallis, and on ascertaining where the old California trail crossed a small stream twenty one years ago, they waited until after dark and then stealthily proceeded to the spot and [illegible] to dig at the foot of stumps [illegible]. At last they were seen to unearth a pile of old boxes very much decayed, from which they took, as is supposed, about $20 000 in coarse [illegible] and left immediately for Albany since [illegible] has been seen of them.

A NEW PRESENT.—We learn that Hon Joseph G Wilson Congressman elect, was presented with a handsome cane a few days since. The head was beautifully mounted with silver, on which was inscribed the following words: "Presented to Joseph G Wilson by the Congregational Sunday school, The Dalles Oregon, June 18, 1872." The cane was procured by subscription raised by the young ladies attached to the school. The presentation was made by Rev Thomas Condon, to which the Judge responded by a neat and appropriate little speech.

LOAD OF FLOWERS.—A truck loaded with a great many species of the most beautiful and fragrant flowers was brought from across the river yesterday. These floral offerings were added to those already on exhibition at the Horticultural Fair, now in progress at the Skating Rink. They belonged to Mrs N H Lane of East Portland and were taken from her private conservatory.

ILL.—Mr H A Hogue who went to the Dalles to dispose of the Government property attached to the United States Mint at that place we regret to learn, was compelled to return home to this city last evening without accomplishing the object of his visit, in consequence of a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism, and is now closely confined to his bed from its effects.

PARTY RETURNED.—The party sent by Major [illegible] to Tatoosh Island to erect the steam fog signal apparatus there has returned to this city, the object of their journey having been successfully accomplished. A survey of Port Orford is contemplated by the General Government with a view to the improvement of that harbor. This will probably be soon commenced.

ACCEPTED.—The Rev C. Bonnell having accepted an appointment for general Missionary work, has resigned St Paul's Church Salem. He will have charge of St. David's East Portland, after the 1st of July.

CONGREGATIONAL ASSOCIATION.—The Congregational Association met in this city yesterday and organized for business by the election of Rev O Dickinson, of Salem Moderator and Rev W R Butcher of Albany Clerk.

FALSE ALARM.—A false alarm of fire was sounded yesterday about 11 o clock A M. The Department "came to time" with their usual promptness, but found no fire fiend to fight.

THE CELEBRATION

The character of the gentlemen composing the various committees which have the matter of arranging for the celebration on the coming anniversary of our National Independence, gives assurance that it will be one of the most extensive and imposing affairs of the kind ever witnessed in Portland. Baker Post G A R, the colored people with their respective trades and avocations. Pioneer and Historical Society of Oregon. Mexican veterans. ST HELEN'S HALL

CLOSING EXERCISES—ADDRESS OF BISHOP MORRIS

Availing ourself of an invitation to be present at the graduating exercises of the above named institution of learning we found our way to St Helen's Hall at 3 o clock yesterday afternoon. The large and commodious chapel room—lower story—in which the closing exercises were held was densely crowded with an intelligent and fashionable audience composed of ladies and gentlemen parents friends and patrons of the institution. The opening exercises commenced at 3 o clock. The rostrum was neatly decorated with evergreens and flowers and over the stage and against the wall was a heart shaped wreath above which was the motto of the graduating class—"Be Clothed with Humility." On the stage were seated Rt. Rev Bishop Morris President of the occasion. Rev John Rosenberg Rev C R Bonnell Rev D h Nevius D D Rev J W Sellwood and the graduating class of young ladies. The exercises were commenced by a few opening remarks by Bishop Morris followed by the essays of the five young lady graduates. The following are the names of the class: Miss Sallie Campbell, Miss Alice Henderson Miss Minnie Couch Miss Mary Taylor Miss Maggie Gearheart. The reading of the graduating essays occupied about an hour, at the conclusion of which the audience adjourned to to the second story of the chapel, where the remaining commencement exercises were concluded. Processional Hymn "Jerusalem the Golden" was sung by the class and clergy accompanied by the organ followed by Ten Selections the Nicene Creed. Prayer was next offered. At the conclusion Psalms one hundred and fifth selection "Lord Forever at thy Side" was rendered and thirty first chapter of Proverbs, tenth verse, was read. Bishop Morris then came forward and delivered the following address to the graduating class.

BISHOP MORRIS' ADDRESS

The ornament of a meek and quiet spirit

Around this sentiment of an ancient but well known writer I desire to gather some thoughts which I hope will not be inappropriate on the occasion of our sending forth the first class of graduates from St Helen's Hall. We are dealing here with the sex who are thought to have the true appreciation of ornament and the stronger love for it. And I am not prepared to oppose this opinion. One can know but little of the tastes and instincts of a young girl, or of the female character at any period of life, to question this point. And I think that we may safely say that a love of ornament is a marked trait in woman's character in every stage and condition of life, and that without this, that life would be robbed of many of its most refining and elevating influences.

A very popular writer of the present day says "It must be admitted that there is a reason in nature why the dress of woman should forever remain different from that of men. In the same manner that the hand of her Creator has shaped her delicate limbs and golden hair different from the rugged organization of men. Woman was meant to be more than a worker. She was meant for the poet and artist of life. She was meant to be the charmer and that is the reason why to the end of time you cannot help it that women always will and must give more care and attention to dress than men. To be sure this runs into a thousand follies and extravagancies, but in this as everything else, the remedy is not extirpation but direction." Accepting this law of woman's character our wisdom then is to seek in the education of girls the way to direct and control this love of ornament to its true and proper uses. We exhort such to remember that all ornament without a real and suitable base is so far from being agreeable and attractive that it becomes ridiculous or offensive. A plain simple dwelling or a rude and ill formed hut upon which are lavished the ornaments of architecture sculpture and painting becomes instantly offensive to a cultivated and discriminating taste. Writing or speech that is barren of thought, knowledge or instruction but is burdened with an ornate rhetoric and figures is both weak and useless and a very weariness to the sensible reader or hearer. So those ornaments of dress and conduct that are mere outre, that have no substratum of intelligence good sense and good principles are not only powerless and ephemeral but really repulsive to a correct taste and judgment. While then we have no thought of extirpating this love of the beautiful from the female heart no desire to divest her of this power nor to rob the world of the good influences of its wise use we may still hope to subordinate it to its proper place and to show what that true and lasting ornament is which alone shall have the praise of God.

The mere love of dress to attract attention and win admiration, is a weak foolish and sinful passion, which freely indulged in will fritter away the character, destroy the true pleasure of life, and bring a reward of bitterness, if not of shame and ruin. Here, if anywhere, the rule of moderation must have its place. And when extravagance and exaggeration set in, then good taste and an enlightened conscience must lift up their voice and compel submission or most disastrous will be the consequences to woman's character and happiness. When we talk of ornaments our thoughts are not to be limited to dress or certain branches of education called "ornamental" by way of distinction, such as music, drawing painting and the modern languages. The sentiment we have here concerns something entirely different something interior hidden, subtle, and not showy—the ornament of the unseen temper and disposition of the mind—of a "meek and quiet spirit." And we are free to say that the system of education which does not seek to foster and establish this spirit is most defective and that that young girl or woman who lacks this ornament will be found wanting in one of the most winning and attractive elements of character one of the most unfailing means of influence upon others and one of the surest guides to her own happiness.

Like every other acquirement this will be obtained by education by educing drawing out fostering and strengthening. A meek and quiet spirit will be cultivated by watchfulness for whatever is not carefully kept and guarded is soon marred, and nothing more easily than the tone and temper of a young girl's mind and spirit. Such an one must be trained into the possession of this lovely characteristic by discipline restraint and habit. She must remember that all she is and has is the gift of God, and that while she may innocently desire the approbation of parents, teachers and friends she may not, she must not desire and seek their admiration for the possession of any gift or quality for its own sake.

If we then will train our children into this meek and quiet spirit we must set ourselves firmly against many things that are prevalent and popular at the present day. We will keep them more out of sight and in the back ground and teach them by all means to shun and not to court attention and admiration. Few things are more painful in our view of modern society than the prevalence of a spirit and habit the very opposite of this. The early introduction of young girls into the pleasures and pastimes of their elders the bringing them out to the gaze and criticisms of public assemblies in concerts entertainments and dramatic performances with their names duly paraded in the next morning's paper in fulsome laudation of that very composure and self possession that tells that the down and blush of childhood are already gone that the sweet diffidence and shrinking of girlhood are to be no more—this, to our view is a most sad and mournful practice threatening the destruction of everything that is lovely and of good report in woman's character and most certainly robbing her of this precious priceless ornament of a meek and quiet spirit. We may sometimes learn a lesson from the common slang expressions of the day. And it seems that there is one here close at hand. People apply the term "loud" to the dress and deportment of women—the very opposite of this quiet spirit and habit we are pleading for—as something worthy of severe condemnation. But what course of training will more surely lead to to this than such as we have condemned?—the taking of children in their sweet and tender years adorning them with all the tricks and coquetries of stage dress and manners and thrusting them out to be stared at and criticised by great public assemblies of men and women. Oh Parents to whom has been committed these tender and unformed natures, will you not save them from this unwise and cruel ordeal.

My dear girls from whom we are now to part after these years of familiar intercourse I trust that while we so cheerfully certify to your proficiency in scholarship believing that you have laid the foundations of a good education we can also feel the assurance that you are not wanting in this the fairest ornament of all. But remember here and ever that you will [illegible] increase in [illegible] even maintain your pre-eminence [illegible] the Father of Spirits [illegible] [illegible] constant in recourse with Him [illegible] prayer which alone soon [illegible] heart [illegible] the precepts promises and warning of His Holy Word.

The fruit of this in recourse of communion with the Father of our spirits will appear in a loving joyful patient and contented disposition. In the pursuit and exercise of this you will be tried and tempted many times and oft in the life that is before you. We can all be pleasant and agreeable toward those who admire us and treat us kindly. Our trials is with those who oppose rebuke or injure us—those whom we feel to be unreasonable or disagreeable. When toward such we can maintain a meek and quiet spirit, still seeking their good and our own improvement then indeed have we proof that God has Himself adorned us with that ornament which is in His sight of great price.

Herein then is the surpassing worth of this adornment. It is of the heavenly mint stamped with the Divine approval bearing the image and superscription of the Lord of all. All other adornments will yield to the crowds of time which will only make them more attractive and lovely. The diamonds and pearls of earth which dazzle our feeble sight glitter with a borrowed light and soon pass away but the gems of heaven will shine brighter and brighter until the [illegible] of life and mark the children of God as destined to enter with joy into the heavenly presence and to stand in sweet confidence before the King in His beauty. "Favor is deceitful and beauty vain but a woman that feareth the Lord she shall be praised."

The address was followed by conferring the diplomas prayer recessional hymn "Sun of My Soul" and the benediction after which the audience dispersed.

THE SMALLPOX CASE.

A DENIAL FROM THE TOWN OF CORNELIUS

CORNELIUS June 20 1872

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

We notice in your issue of this morning an article headed "A Public Outrage" in which the people of Cornelius had no part, or any knowledge of. Since seeing your article we have made inquiries into the matter and from the best information we can get find that the case mentioned originated at Laughlin's Gap twelve or fifteen miles from this place and has not been reported here as a case of smallpox but caused from poison oak. The people of Cornelius did not pay Mr McDonald, nor any other man for taking a sick man to Portland and the only knowledge the people of this place have of his ever having been here was obtained from the OREGONIAN itself. The outrage spoken of by the OREGONIAN was not perpetrated by the people of Cornelius or its vicinity but an outrage has been committed by the OREGONIAN in accusing the people of this place of an act of which they had no knowledge. There has not been a case of smallpox at or near Cornelius to our knowledge, and should one occur we have persons willing to take care of them without our sending them to Portland.

Please give this an insertion in your paper that the public mind may be disabused in reference to Cornelius.

Why do the debilitated and feeble dread the summer. Thus for twenty years has been the testimony of all who have taken the Bitters as a summer tonic and alterative. Its efficacy is due [illegible] care and scrupulous fidelity to the teachings of experimental science with which its medicinal ingredients have been culled from the vegetable kingdom the admirable proportions in which they are combined and the [illegible] quality of its stimulative basis.

A Characteristic Thing

There is a great deal of truth told about Mr Sumner in this paragraph which we take from the Chicago Evening Mail

When furious party papers assail Mr Sumner's speech on President Grant as unworthy of the Senate and the occasion by reason of its personal character they tell a great deal of truth But it occurs to us that it is rather late in the day for them to make such a charge Such has always been the character of the Senator's speeches and this very allegation is just the one made against him by Preston S Brooks as a reason for caning him Sumner is nothing if not personal His inordinate self conceit and self righteousness lead him into all extremes of wordy violence for which however he always claims the exemption due to genuine political discussion But we repeat that it ill becomes those who have hitherto been his defenders through thick and thin to reproach him now

Henry Ward Beecher on Sumner.—For more than three years a monster has been sitting in the Presidential chair at Washington There are no lights to his character. It is all black as night without a star! Since the old Roman monster heroes, it will be difficult to find a [illegible] made up so entirely of faults, so utterly devoid of excellencies This is Gen Grant as Sumner has painted him! Paragraph after paragraph, column after column, page after page, the rehearsal of evil goes on, without an alleviation, without a single light to the huge mountain of darkness until we involuntarily cry out, "Why does Providence permit such a miscreant to live?"

Soberly, Sumner has proved neither a wise rhetorician nor a skillful special pleader He has overcharged his picture Men will not believe that the silent man of the White House is [illegible] a fiend. That this oration will produce a certain effect upon natures already surcharged with violent feeling, that as a campaign document it will have some considerable weight, is probable. But we think it has so overstepped the bounds of moderation that the fair-minded and the just will recoil from it. Its influence will be temporary. By and by Sumner's friends will look back upon this speech with regret, as lacking in generosity, in justice, in truth, in moderation. No man who hates is fit to judge another Sumner has reared a monument of his hatred to Grant We must commend to Sumner a passage in a book which we fear he does not read as often as he should

"He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now He that loveth his brother abideth in the light and there is none occasion of stumbling in him But he that hateth his brother is in darkness and walketh in darkness and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes "—Christian Union

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

[illegible], June 20, 1872

Gold in New York [illegible], 114½.

Portland Legal Tenders [illegible] buying; 89 selling

The British ship [illegible], Capt. Whyte, from Hongkong direct, with a [illegible] of [illegible] goods and a considerable number of [illegible] is now in the Columbia river on her way to this port. She is in tow of the tug Merrimac, and will probably arrive here this morning.

The British ship A. M. Small is now lying at the east side wharf receiving wheat. She has already received about 300 tons The entire cargo was engaged before the Small was chartered. She will carry away about 1,400 long tons, which will be one of the largest cargoes ever shipped from this port. She has a registered capacity of over 1,500 tons. It is expected to have her loaded by the last of next week Twelve car loads of wheat were yesterday [illegible] brought down, and the remainder of her cargo will follow as rapidly as possible

The [illegible] for agricultural implements remains quite moderate. At present the demand for threshers is dull with but few sales During the week a number of headers and mowers have been sold to farmers east of the mountains by the two leading firms of the city

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 13th says

Since the adoption by Congress of the new Tariff bill raising the duty on Burlap Bags to 40 per cent and reducing the rate on Burlap goods to 30 per cent. to take effect August 1st, there has been a firmer feeling in Bags, and one of the principal holders has closed out his entire stock at 17½c. The new tariff, while temporarily raising the price of Bags, will in the end be advantageous to consumers, since it will stimulate the local manufacture of Bags. The present price of English hand-sewed Burlaps 22x36, is 16c; Flour Sacks, 9¾@10½c for qrs, and 14½@15½c for hfs; Wool Sacks, 75@80c; Gunnies, 20@21c each, Hessians, 40-inch goods, 14c ℔ yard.

The following is taken from a commercial letter written at San Francisco

Eastern [illegible] continue to arrive by rail in considerable quantities, including Cheese by the car load 5 bbls Mess Pork, the brine all drawn off so as to reduce the weight and lessen freight charges—rather risky Chicago Lard in tierces has been sold by the car load at 10c, and Bacon at 9c. There must be a loss at these rates In another instance we know of a party purchasing 100 tons Sugar Cured Hams in Chicago for this city He had received two car loads and then received a telegram from his Chicago agent stating that he had been offered a profit of 1c per ℔ for the lot (balance unshipped) He lost no time in telegraphing back to accept the offer The sale was made, and a loss escaped Sugar Cured Hams cannot be sold here for less than 14c to cover

At latest mail dates the New York market was well supplied with loanable funds, rates being 4@5 and 6 per cent The Chronicle says:

"Even at these low rates, there have been large balances, with some of the leading banks and private bankers, which could not be employed, and the usual complaints of an excess of national bank currency and loss of interest on deposits, which arise in times of money plethora, have been frequently heard

Advices from England go to show that the British wheat harvest will be inferior this season, and prices are likely to advance and be maintained, unless the crops of southern Europe should prove unusually redundant

Domestic Produce.

WHEAT—The ship Annie M. Small, now loading will take about 30,000 centals. Views of holders and buyers continue much at variance. The market is in much the same insufferable condition that has characterized it for weeks past. Good lots may be quoted at $1 60 per cental

FLOUR—Some of the mills are still at work and have a considerable stock of Wheat. The Salem Mills are yet in operation, but not running to their full capacity We quote the market in jobbing lots for extra of standard brands at $5 25@5 50 ℔ bbl; superfine and [illegible] $4 75@5 ℔ bbl. These are the same rates that have prevailed for several weeks.

OATS—The prospects of the new crop are not as favorable as they have been Some fields however look extremely well But large areas of late sown Oats will certainly yield a short crop and some fields may fail entirely, except for farmers' stock to harvest. On the whole however a fair yield, sufficient for the wants of the State, may be confidently expected. We note no change in prices here.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN CONVENTION AT PHILADELPHIA JUNE 6, 1872

The Republican Party of the United States assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia [illegible] that it has [illegible] appeals to its history and announces its position upon the questions before the country

1 During the eleven years of its supremacy it has accepted with grand courage the solemn duties of the time [illegible] all its established universal suffrage [illegible] political equality [illegible] and has warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors It has steadily [illegible] toward the Indians the Pacific Railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generously aided and successfully conducted to completion the public lands have been freely given to actual settlers Immigration has been protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of the rights of naturalized citizens secured from European powers In the form of National currency it has provided for the National credit and sustained it under the most extraordinary burdens It has negotiated new loans at lower rates of interest The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied Despite the annual large reductions from the rate of taxation the public debt has been reduced during U S Grant's Presidency at the rate of $100 000 000 per year A great financial crisis has been averted and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised and the honor and power of the Nation kept in high position throughout the world This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future, and we believe that the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men composed of those who chiefly have resisted every step in this beneficial progress

2 Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate state and Federal legislation Neither law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race creed color or previous condition of servitude

3 The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right not merely tolerated because they are law and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured the amendments

4 The National Government seeks to maintain an honorable peace with all nations protecting its citizens everywhere and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty

5 Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal is fatally demoralizing and we therefore favor a reform of the system by laws which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public positions without practically creating a life tenure of office

6 We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolies and demand that the National domain be set apart for free homes for the people

7 The annual revenue after paying current debts should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal [illegible] revenue should be derived from a tax upon tobacco and liquors [illegible] raised by duties upon importations [illegible] to secure remunerative wages to labor and promote the industries and growth and prosperity of the whole country

8 We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation and the widows and orphans of those who died for their country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people We favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the Government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged and who in the line of duty became disabled without regard to length of service or the cause of such discharge

9 The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers concerning allegiance [illegible] subject having [illegible] the [illegible] has been abandoned and the American idea of the right of an individual to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations It is the duty of our Government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former Governments and we urge continued and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary emigration

10 The franking privilege ought to be abolished and a way prepared for reduction in the rates of postage

11 Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor and the Republican party recognize the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital, and for labor which creates capital the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization

12 We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an imperative duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation

13 We denounce the repudiation of public debts in any form or disguise as a national crime We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt and of the rates of interest upon the balance and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption of specie payment

14 The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom their application for admission to further usefulness is received with satisfaction and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration

15 We heartily approve the action of Congress in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land

16 The Republican party proposes to respect the rights reserved by the people to themselves as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Territorial governments It disapproves of resorting to unconstitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or National Government

17 It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship building

18 We believe that the modest patriotism the earnest purpose the sound judgment the practical wisdom the incorruptible integrity and the illustrious services of U S Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people and with him at our head we start today upon a new march to victory
